

Only one of the three ruptures went on reshaping the interior ministry

The coercive and territorial administration, on the same measure as the ministry figure. 1987 fell on the governorates, the prefectural corps a ruler appoints to hold the country, and barely touched the interior ministry itself. 2011 reached the ministry and then let go. 2021 is the only case that is still above twice the state's rate three to five years on.

Branches are identified from the organisation's own name and form, since the interior ministry's field administration is not filed under its portfolio. Customs is excluded: at one to six appointments a year it cannot carry a ratio. Governorates and municipalities include their secretaries-general and delegates, not only the governor or mayor.
