

How far down the hierarchy each rupture reached

The same ratio as the previous figure, cut by the seniority of the post rather than the body holding it. A rupture confined to the top of the state shows points to the right only among the senior ranks; one that reached into the administration shows them further down as well.

Ranks with fewer than 8 appointments a year before a rupture are not plotted for that rupture. Ministers, secretaries of state and governors are too few per year to carry this statistic and are omitted.
